Mormon Tabernacle Choir announces virtual sing-along opportunity

All who have dreamed of singing with the Mormon Tabernacle Choir now have a chance. The Mormon Tabernacle Choir is inviting people throughout the world to join in a virtual sing-along of George Frideric Handel's "Hallelujah" chorus.

"Handel's 'Messiah' is an extremely powerful oratorio, especially the 'Hallelujah' chorus," said Ryan Murphy, associate music director for the choir. "It is well-known and well-loved. It's an honor for us to perform it, and we are delighted to extend the invitation to join us to singers all over the world."

Those interested in participating can download sheet music for the soprano, alto, tenor and bass parts. They can also learn their parts with the help of videos featuring YouTube star Peter Hollens and his wife, Ewynne. Submissions should then be uploaded to YouTube and submitted through the form on mormon.org, using #Hallelujah.

New Footage of Rare Whales \(and Their Babies\) on the coast of Madagascar

Previously, no scientists had ever seen these animals alive—and they only knew of the whales living far away, in the western Pacific.

By following the whales around the Indian Ocean, the researchers gleaned tidbits of new information. They observed the whales' asymmetrical coloring, mostly gray with a white patch on the right side of the jaw. They watched the whales feed by lunging through the sea with their mouths wide open to filter out tiny animals. And they saw that Omura's whales tend to hang out alone, though they may be listening to each other's distinctive songs underwater. ...

War-Torn Somalia Exports More Livestock Than Ethiopia And Kenya Combined

Somalia, a country that has not had a stable government for over two decades, exports more than double the livestock more economically and politically stable neighbors Ethiopia and Kenya do annually.

According to data from Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO), Somalia exported a record 5 million livestock in 2014, while Ethiopia exported 1.9 million and Kenya only managed 200,000.

“Basically they (Somalia) have privatized the sector and there is very little government involvement in it. They are also getting external donors like the EU that have built abattoirs and trained veterinary officers,” Bill Wahome, CEO Williamson Fresh, told AFKInsider on the sidelines of a Livestock stakeholders round-table event held in Nairobi on Tuesday ...

Namibia: Food Security, Livestock Grazing Deteriorating
 The household food security situation continues to weaken and grazing continues to deteriorate in various parts of the country as drought conditions strengthen.

Autumn has arrived with very little hope of late rains in March to bring last-minute relief to dryland crop producers. A massive effort this year by the Ministry of Agriculture, Water and Forestry (MAWF) to distribute hundreds of thousands of seeds to the crop-producing regions in the north was partially defeated by the absence of good rains in the planting season and lack of follow-up rains after seeds were planted. ...

State Department warns that Cameroon is a high-risk travel destination for U.S. citizens 4 January 2016
 The U.S. State Department is warning Americans about the high risk of traveling to Cameroon. In particular, the department said, U.S. citizens should avoid all travel to the north regions because of the general threat of violent crime, terrorism and the targeting of Westerners for kidnappings and murder.

The terrorist group Boko Haram continues to be a presence in the region. Since July 2015, the group has carried out at least 14 suicide bombings in the north, the State Department reported. The northeastern Nigerian Islamist group has been even more deadly than Islamic State this year.

State Dept. issues worldwide travel alert for U.S. citizens due to increased terrorist threats 20 December 2015 (MyFoxBoston.com) -- The State Department issued a worldwide travel alert for U.S. citizens Monday due to increased terrorist threats.

According to the State Dept., their latest information says that ISIL, al-Qa'ida, Boko Haram, and other terrorist groups are planning attacks in several regions. The department says the attacks may involve a variety of tactics, including conventional and non-conventional weapons and "targeting both official and private interests."

The department also believes there is a continuing threat from "unaffiliated persons" that may plan attacks inspired by other terrorist organizations.

U.S. citizens should take extreme caution when traveling, the department says, and always be aware of your surroundings. This alert says Americans could be at risk anywhere throughout the world.

Homeland Security Expert Anthony Amore said, "There wouldn't be an alert if there wasn't some intelligence telling the government that Americans have to be on the lookout."

Democratic Republic of the Congo Travel Warning Saturday, December 05, 2015 :: Staff infoZine
 The Department of State warns U.S. citizens of the risks of travel to the Democratic Republic of the Congo (a.k.a. DRC or Congo-Kinshasa).

Washington DC - infoZine - U.S. citizens should avoid all but essential travel to the provinces of North Kivu, South Kivu, the provinces of Bas-Uele, Haut-Uele and Ituriz (northeastern part of the former Oriental Province) and particularly the new provinces of Tanganyika and Haut-Lomami (northeastern and central parts of the former province of Katanga), where instability and sporadic violence continues. Very poor transportation infrastructure throughout the country and poor security conditions in eastern DRC make it difficult for the U.S. Embassy to provide consular services anywhere outside of Kinshasa.
